LEAGUE CRISIS CLIMAXED BY DEATH OF LAST HOPE

Locarno Nullified by "Disaster" in Council Fight, Says Chamberlain, as Berlin Refuses to Yield

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS) GENEVA, March 13 (Saturday).—Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary, indicated his belief in a confidential talk with British newspaper men early this morning that the crisis over the question of increasing the number of League of Nations Council seats has reached the proportions of a disaster, with paralysis of the atmosphere created by the Locarno accords. Sir Austen announced that it is useless to continue the conversation with the Germans because he is convinced they will be fruitless. Hence, it had been decided to turn over the whole problem to the Council of the League of Nations.

Split Comes Over Dispute on "Morality" of Buying in Russian Market

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS) LONDON, March 13.—A bitter dispute is going on between Standard Oil interests and the Shell-Royal Dutch combine over the "morality" of buying oil from nationalized Russian properties. Two years ago Sir Henry Detering, head of the combine, bought for a song a number of claims against Russia for confecting oil properties. He has since been campaigning in a campaign against the purchase and marketing of oil from these properties, which are now in the hands of the Soviet government.

SENATE WETS STAGGERED BY COUP OF DRY CHIEF

Four Ardent Prohibitionists and Only One "Anti" Appointed on Committee to Study Bills

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Venerable Senator Cummins, Republican, Iowa, sent the Senatorial wets to Sahara this afternoon. He did it by appointing four bone-dry Senators and only one wet to investigate the antiprohibition bills, that have been introduced in the United States Senate and then to report back to the Senate committee on the advisability of holding public hearings on those bills.

It was through such hearings that the Senatorial wets hoped to get before the Senate and the nation a mass of facts and figures on what they call a failure of prohibition.

WETS IN DESPAIR
In view of the make up of the investigating body, the wets now despair of their hearings. The four dry Cummins appointees are Senators Means, Republican, Colorado; Goff, Republican, West Virginia; Hiram, Republican, Oklahoma; and Walsh, Democrat, Montana. The lone wet is Senator Reed of Missouri.

Thus only one commonwealth of the East, where wet sentiment is strongest, is represented.

It is known that Senator Walsh, the most conspicuous member of the committee, is passionately dry and is emphatically opposed to public hearings on the anti prohibition bills because in his opinion they would be merely an excuse for getting wet propaganda before the country. It was Senator Walsh who, hearing Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, say that the great trouble with the Eighteenth Amendment was that "there is no moral force behind it" replied that moral force was and is the one thing behind the Eighteenth Amendment, adding:

"In my State all the moral force of the people is behind it."

Senator Reed on the contrary, considers the prohibition law "tranny and the breeder of new vices and crimes, and that it should be exposed." Hence a minority report by him on the advisability of public hearings is expected.

Whatever shall happen, Senator Cummins today accomplished what he yesterday described as "no good." He explained by adding: "You see, I have to vote against so many of the right kind of men don't want to serve."

The words epitomized the attitude of most of the wetter dry Senators. They are loath to jump into the prohibition fray.

Not so in the House. There the Committee on Alcohol Liquor Traffic, which is emphatically dry, met today to try to devise some indirect means of financing a nationwide questionnaire—addressed to law-enforcement officers, churches, and "leading citizens"—on the success of prohibition enforcement.

The chairman of this committee is Representative Hiram, Republican, Michigan, former superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Michigan, and other leading members of it are Upshaw, Democrat, Georgia, and Kvale, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, the preacher who defeated Volstead's plan by going to the electorate on the platform, "I am drier than Volstead."

BRADSHAW INCENSED
Tomorrow in the Senate, Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, will make a two-hour speech in support of prohibition.

The interruptions by Reed, Bruce, Edge and Edwards are expected to make the occasion more sprightly than it otherwise might be.

Representative Upshaw added his touch to this day's harsh language by issuing a statement in which he described Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, wet leader of the House, as "the most virulent enemy of southern honor and the most vicious critic of the South I have ever heard on the floor of Congress."

Lime Dissolving Held Cause for River Bed's Fall

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE)
SHARON SPRINGS (Kan.) March 12.—The sinking of the land in the bed of the Smoky Hill River near here, which started Wednesday morning and continued through yesterday, had come to a virtual stop today.

The dissolving and washing away of strata of limestone about 200 feet below the surface were the generally accepted theory of the cause of the phenomenon. Geologists declare that underground water carries away this limestone, leaving large caves or caverns.

SOLOMON STOPS CARR
(BY A. P. MONT WIRE)
TAMPA, March 12.—King Solomon, heavyweight champion of Panama, scored a technical knockout over Butch Carr of Toledo, Ohio, when the referee stopped the fight in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight.

LETTUCE DAMAGED
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
GLENDALE (Ariz.) March 12.—Statement is made that damage is being done to lettuce fields by hordes of caterpillars from the cottonwood trees that line the highways all over the Salt River Valley.

This Furnished House Is Ready for You To Move Into

Not a thing to buy except groceries. No cleaning to do—no draperies to hang—no furniture to arrange—no windows to clean. A real "homey" home, complete with everything from salt-shakers up.

Why not move in today and invite your friends for dinner tonight. Quick work, but you can do it—everything is that spick and span!

DISARMAMENT GIVEN BOOST

Danish House Passes Bill for Abolishment of Army and Navy

COPENHAGEN, March 12.—The Folketing (House of Commons) today passed the third reading of the disarmament bill, which calls for volunteer abolition of the Danish army and navy, leaving only frontier and customs guards and a number of volunteers for coast duty.

The vote was 75 to 71.

Strong opposition was shown by the Conservatives and Liberals who declared their astonishment that the government dared to support such a measure under present conditions in Europe.

Commercial treaty with Spain now under consideration is of great importance as Sweden is the main source of Spain's timber supply.

CHAMBERLAIN GETS BLAME IN NEWSPAPERS

LONDON, March 12.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, the Foreign Secretary and chief British delegate at Geneva, is blamed by many British newspapers for a large share of the unfortunate happenings at the League of Nations conference which the United States has agreed to attend.

"If a very few great nations," writes the Times, "begin to reduce their military establishments which are admittedly maintained with an eye to their near neighbors, the rest of the world will follow."

He said that "the nation which is best organized for peace is best equipped for war" and that, although some fanatics view disarmament as destroying all implements for making war, this is impossible.

Another difficulty in the consideration of disarmament, as seen by Gen. Bliss, is that of reducing the military personnel. This can only be done, he believes, by reducing the number of men actually in the service.

"If the coming conference attempts to determine a measure of relative armaments," writes the general, "it will be found practicable only by comparison of the number of trained men with the colors and in civil life, and the amount of military equipment, merely because it is believed that they are better than those of some other nation."

Gen. Bliss expressed conviction that this point will be hotly contested, and that he did not consider it possible for nations ever to agree upon it.

PRESIDENT PREPARED TO RUSH TO FATHER

WASHINGTON, March 12.—President Coolidge is prepared to rush to the bedside of his aged father, Col. John C. Coolidge, who is seriously ill at the family home near Plymouth, Vt.

In response to inquiries at the White House, the President said that he talked on the telephone with his father this morning and that the condition of the elder Coolidge appeared about as usual.

It has been known at the White House for some time that Mr. Coolidge is very anxious to visit his father, but that he has felt unable to postpone the state trip because of the pressing need for his presence in Washington and because of the fact that deep snow in the Vermont mountains made the trip extremely difficult.

At this time the New England hills are buried under a blanket of snow ranging from four to five feet deep on the level to twice that depth where the snow has drifted.

President Coolidge is expected to be in Washington for the remainder of the week, and the elder Coolidge is expected to stay on his farm amid familiar surroundings.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will take a short trip on the Presidential yacht Mayflower tomorrow, but will remain close enough to Washington to enable them to return quickly in the event of less reassuring news from Plymouth.

After-Effects of War Gases to be Studied

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE)
WASHINGTON, March 12.—The study of 10,000 men who were gassed during the World War is to be studied by a board of medical officers appointed by Director of the Veterans Bureau at the request of the American Legion and other agencies.

Remote effects of the various gases used will be tabulated on scientific basis for the benefit of the victims themselves as well as for the nation generally from an economic standpoint.

STRIKERS ARRESTED IN EFFORT TO SELL TAGS

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE)
NEW YORK, March 12.—More than 200 striking textile workers from Passaic who came to New York today to sell tags for the benefit of the striking workers after thirty-three of their number had been arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. No permits had been issued for the tag sale.

A woman was included among those arrested. Magistrate Goodman found the thirty-three prisoners guilty of disorderly conduct and suspended sentence after ordering them to leave New York.

COVENT GARDEN TO BE MOVED TO NEW SITE

(BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
LONDON, March 12.—The world famous Covent Garden is to be moved to a more extensive and convenient site at Bloomsbury, now occupied by the Foundling Hospital, according to a decision of the owning company, which has decided to apply to the parliamentary powers.

The scheme for releasing the site at Covent Garden area makes possible the construction of a new strand thoroughfare, running parallel to the present roadway and relieving considerable traffic congestion.

Great Nations Urged to Lead in Move Proposed

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE)

NEW YORK, March 12.—The most definite and practical move toward general disarmament will be those taken in the direction of "regional limitation" at points of least importance in military strategy, in the opinion of Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, former Chief of Staff and American member of the Supreme War Council in France. He gives his views and discusses some of the problems of disarmament in the current issue of Foreign Affairs. Gen. Bliss has been mentioned as a possible delegate to the forthcoming disarmament conference which the United States has agreed to attend.

PRESIDENT PREPARED TO RUSH TO FATHER

WASHINGTON, March 12.—President Coolidge is prepared to rush to the bedside of his aged father, Col. John C. Coolidge, who is seriously ill at the family home near Plymouth, Vt.

In response to inquiries at the White House, the President said that he talked on the telephone with his father this morning and that the condition of the elder Coolidge appeared about as usual.

It has been known at the White House for some time that Mr. Coolidge is very anxious to visit his father, but that he has felt unable to postpone the state trip because of the pressing need for his presence in Washington and because of the fact that deep snow in the Vermont mountains made the trip extremely difficult.

At this time the New England hills are buried under a blanket of snow ranging from four to five feet deep on the level to twice that depth where the snow has drifted.

President Coolidge is expected to be in Washington for the remainder of the week, and the elder Coolidge is expected to stay on his farm amid familiar surroundings.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will take a short trip on the Presidential yacht Mayflower tomorrow, but will remain close enough to Washington to enable them to return quickly in the event of less reassuring news from Plymouth.

After-Effects of War Gases to be Studied

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE)
WASHINGTON, March 12.—The study of 10,000 men who were gassed during the World War is to be studied by a board of medical officers appointed by Director of the Veterans Bureau at the request of the American Legion and other agencies.

Remote effects of the various gases used will be tabulated on scientific basis for the benefit of the victims themselves as well as for the nation generally from an economic standpoint.

STRIKERS ARRESTED IN EFFORT TO SELL TAGS

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE)
NEW YORK, March 12.—More than 200 striking textile workers from Passaic who came to New York today to sell tags for the benefit of the striking workers after thirty-three of their number had been arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. No permits had been issued for the tag sale.

A woman was included among those arrested. Magistrate Goodman found the thirty-three prisoners guilty of disorderly conduct and suspended sentence after ordering them to leave New York.

THREE DIE IN ATTEMPT TO CLOSE CATHOLIC CHURCH

Many Injured in Riot as Mexicans Rally Round Defiant Priest; Officials Meet Death

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) MEXICO CITY, March 12.—Three representatives of the State of Yucatán were killed, a number of persons injured and one girl dangerously wounded in a riot resulting from orders to close a Catholic church at Jalsiquillo, a neighboring town. The officials were met by armed opposition from the church followers.

It is believed to be the first riot in the nation as a result of the closing of a church by the government, and the first in which the government was defeated.

Charles W. Hayman, secretary of the American Legation, Grant P. Marshall, consul general, and Joseph P. Foster, secretary of the American Legation, were the officials who were killed.

Stanley Abel of Kern county, a re-elected legislator, was also killed.

WAR BEGUN ON REDS IN SHANGHAI

Defense League Launches Worldwide Drive Aimed at Communism

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS) SHANGHAI, March 12.—The newly organized constitutional defense league, comprising fourteen nationalities, including the Chinese, launched an open campaign against Communism today. Mass meetings were held in the international and French settlements, also in the Japanese community.

Speakers asserted that labor unions are responsible to Communism, and predicted that a revolution will result unless they are checked.

The purpose of the movement is to bring about a world-wide drive against Communism. Representatives have been appointed in New York and London.

An anti-foreign strike long has existed at Canton and Whampoa, where foreign shipping has been held up and cargo plundered after leaving the docks, causing profits to the Canton government.

River traffic between Hongkong and Canton was entirely suspended for a few days in February, attempts to remedy the situation being only partly successful. Hotels and hospitals at Canton have been harassed.

Two Are Killed as Auto Upsets on Phoenix Road

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) PHOENIX, March 12.—Luther Bennett, 45 years of age, and Louise Koerner, 36, were crushed to death late last night on the mountain road leading to the Castle Springs resort, north of Phoenix.

This morning their bodies were found by workmen under an overturned automobile.

Bennett, a former government farmer on the McDowell Indian Reservation, had been a member of a motion-picture company that has been on location at the springs.

With him in the lead, Miss Koerner, an employee of the resort hotel.

Child Reported Left for Liquor Debt Reclaimed

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) VENTURA, March 12.—"Curley" the fair-skinned, flaxen-haired baby boy found in a bootlegging place during a recent Sheriff's raid in Oxnard, was claimed today by his father, Joe Cohen, of Ventura.

"Curley," whose name is Leonard Cohen, was said by negroes in Oxnard to be the son of a bootlegger. He was left as security on a debt of $100. Prohibition Officer Thomas Spier located the child's father and instrumentally in bringing him to Ventura to reclaim his son.

The child was taken to Fresno, where he is to be placed in the home of Mrs. M. J. Cohen.

The child's mother left when he was only five months of age, Cohen said.

Single Survivor of Gen. Custer's Last Stand Dies

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) ANADARKO (Okla.), March 12.—Funeral services were conducted here this afternoon for S. B. Jones, 81 years of age, Indian scout and sole survivor of the Battle of Little Bighorn in 1876, in which Gen. George A. Custer and his command were massacred by Sioux Indians.

Jones' escape from the fate that befell his comrades was due to the fact that he was detailed by Gen. Custer to go to Maj. Reno for reinforcements. He succeeded in delivering the message after running the gauntlet of thousands of Indians who were closing in on Gen. Custer.

Cross-Examine Accused Slayer of Young Girl

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) STOCKTON, March 12.—Examination of Mrs. Louise Zamora, asserted murderer of four-year-old Lenore Aguilar, began before a jury in Superior Court here today.

Mrs. Zamora's attorney, Ira Langdon, placed her on the stand yesterday and she concluded her testimony this morning, after which Dist. Atty. Van Vranken began a barrage of questioning to break down her story.

Two strong points for the defense are yet to be broken down. One is the testimony of Mrs. Anna Mello of Tracy that she gave Lenore a bottle of milk a day after the asserted crime. The other is the testimony of L. S. Kepler, Tracy attorney, that he saw Lenore on December 24, 1924, two days after Mrs. Zamora is said to have drowned the child in a ferkin or water.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) OLYMPIA (Wash.), March 12.—Premature explosion of powder here today caused the death of John King, 53 years of age, bachelor rancher living three miles west of here. He was blown thirty feet. His body was sent to Seattle for burial.

RIVAL STABS GIRL IN LOVE DUEL

Aggressor Branded as Female 'Cuckoo'

Maybell Burson

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—Police today are seeking "Dot," otherwise known as "Frico Jackie," who knifed Miss Maybell Burson, 19-year-old raven-haired beauty, in a love duel.

Miss Burson gave a detailed account of the duel, saying Dot always wants every man that any other girl has. After Miss Burson was stabbed in the arm "Frico Jackie" vanished with her clothes in shreds.

CONFESSES LOVE POISONINGS

Convicted Woman Admits Murdering Two Wives to Get Husbands, and One Man

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) FLORA (Ill.) March 12.—Mrs. Elsie Bible Malinsky, 44 years of age, under sentence for the murder of her third husband, has substantially admitted having committed two other poison murders and a fourth attempted fatal poisoning. State's Attorney Williams announced last night.

Her other victims, the State's Attorney told the Associated Press, were a husband and the former wife of a former husband.

MYSTERY IN FALL AIDE'S DEATH ENDS

Letters and Strychnine Bottle Said to Indicate Case of Suicide

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) EL PASO (Tex.), March 12.—Mystery surrounding the death of Walter Abbott, 34 years of age, private secretary to former Secretary of Interior Fall, was lifted today when papers found among his possessions at Fall's ranch at Three Rivers, N. M., indicated that he had planned to take his own life.

Abbott, who was book-keeper for the Tres Rios Cattle Company, was found dead in his automobile about two miles north of Tularosa, N. M., early yesterday. The car had been pulled to the side of the road, the ignition and light switches being turned off.

A bottle containing a small quantity of whiskey and a small glass containing what is believed to be strychnine was found in the car.

J. J. Haven, who represented Mr. Fall in demanding that a post-mortem be conducted, in a long-distance telephone call to El Paso from Fall's ranch today asked that the autopsy be halted, stating that papers and correspondence had been found showing that Abbott had planned to take his own life.

Motive for the suicide could not be determined. Haven refusing to make public the contents of the letters left by Abbott, who had been summoned as a witness in the noted Teapot Dome hearing at Cheyenne, Wyo. Abbott was ordered to produce bank records and ledger sheets of transactions of the cattle company to be introduced as evidence in the Teapot Dome hearing.

CHILD INJURED WHEN CARTRIDGE EXPLODES

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) STOCKTON, March 12.—A shotgun cartridge found in a refuge on the side of the road caused the injury of the 7-year-old son of Joe M. Belland of Tracy yesterday. Picking up the cartridge, the boy struck it with a rock. The explosion tore off his right thumb and finger and badly lacerated his face and ear.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) WASHINGTON, March 12.—Representative Los, Democrat, of California, introduced a bill today to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to acquire 440 acres to be added to Lassen Volcanic National Park, California.

HOUSE ACTS ON CONTROL OF RADIOS

Amendment to Place All Existing Permits Under New Law Passed

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) WASHINGTON, March 12.—Consideration of the White bill to regulate radio was begun today by the House with several amendments regarding its progress.

Without a record vote the House adopted an amendment by Representative Lehigh, Republican, New Jersey, to provide that after passage of the measure, all existing broadcasting licenses upon expiration must come under provision of the bill. This is designed to prevent existing broadcasters from escaping control of the regulatory machinery proposed in the measure.

An amendment by Representative Hinton, Democrat, Texas, to provide that slanderous or abusive language used by a broadcaster would be punishable under Federal libel and slander laws, was rejected on a point of order.

FINAL ACTION HAD FOR SOLDIERS' DISCHARGE

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) WASHINGTON, March 12.—The Senate has taken final action on a measure authorizing the War Department to issue a certificate of discharge for soldiers dismissed from the Army for misrepresentation of age. The measure has passed the House and differences have been adjusted in conference.

LESS MAIL HANDLED

The report showed that the department had handled 11,174,719 fewer pieces of mail in the latter half of 1925, when the new rates were effective, than during the same period in 1924, under lower rate schedules. Postal business took a sharp slump immediately after adoption of the P-fair rates. It said, but it had increased substantially with indications that it will return to normal.

This was particularly true of third-class mail, including circulars and other printed matter, not including newspapers and periodicals. During the first quarter after the new rates were adopted a decrease of 3.11 per cent compared with the same quarter in 1924 was shown, and for the succeeding quarter of 5.03 per cent, but for the last quarter the volume increased 4.11 per cent over the preceding year's comparable figures.

DECREASE ASKED

Containing the Postmaster-General's report proved that the higher rates were a mistake, Senator McKellar proposed in his bill to restore the 1920 rate on postal cards, remove the service charge on parcel post and provide a new provision for private reply postal cards on the permit system at a 2-cent rate. The bill also would restore the "blue-tag" rates for newspapers and periodicals to permit their transmission through the mails by fast freight at actual cost.

The present rates also were attacked in a statement by the National Association of Business Mail Users, which charged that the report showed that they were "clearly out of line and that the Post Office Department was 'in effect restricting business.'"

Bill Ignores Department of Education Plan

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) WASHINGTON, March 12.—Chairman Phipps of the Senate Education Committee, joined the hopes of advocates of a Federal education department today by introducing a Federal education bill making no mention of such a department.

It merely provides extended aid to education and research work along the present lines. The present Education Bureau in the Interior Department will have an additional $250,000 and additional personnel.

Is your car or your house worth more than you?

By G. E. Nagel

Of course not—you're bigger and more important than any of those things.

But you dress up your house: new furniture, new decorations; you repaint your car—and you're right. They reflect on you.

But what about dressing yourself up? That reflects even more directly on you.

It's worth thinking about.

Inventor Who Wrote of Poor Boys Becoming Rich
Attains Wealth of His Heroes

NEW YORK, March 12.—The suit begun by the United States government to set aside sixteen oil "cracking" patents held by the Texas Oil Company, has revealed the career of Joseph H. Adams of Brooklyn, inventor of the process, has been as remarkable as any of the fiction heroes he created in early manhood.

About twenty years ago Adams wrote stories of poor boys who rose to fortune, illustrating them himself and spent his spare time working on his inventions. Friends advised him to stop playing with the inventions and stick to literature. Instead of doing this, however, the author borrowed money in 1903 to put his "cracking" process on the market.

Justice McAvoy in the Supreme Court of Brooklyn a few years ago ruled George C. Rogers, who made the loan, was entitled to 40 per cent of the proceeds of the patent, then valued at $3,000,000.

Since 1924 the inventor has perfected fifteen other processes, for one of which the Texas Oil Company has paid him $1,000,000 outright, while fifty other companies contribute royalties on other processes.

Mr. Adams owns a $25,000 home in Brooklyn, which is closed for the winter while he is in Florida, where he has another home and a palatial houseboat.

He was named co-defendant with the Texas Oil Company in the government's suit. The government contends that he is not entitled to the patents nor to any future royalties from them.

She asserts Meutis failed to notify her of his find and later sold the jewelry which she present belongs to people in Ventura, Santa Barbara and Los Angeles counties. Mrs. Clinch lost the jewelry in 1922 when, with her daughter, she stopped at a Standard Oil gas station in Santa Barbara. The loss was not noted until later when they were eating breakfast in Ventura. They immediately returned but found no trace of the missing bag.

The woman dropped the search until shortly after the Oxnard vice raid when she communicated with Sheriff Clark and remembered that a man by name of Meutis had been arrested in Santa Barbara in February, 1924, for attempting to sell jewelry and had later been released.

Twenty-seven of the diamonds have been located but most of the present owners are holding the stones at many times their value. Meutis realized that $2700 from the sale. He admits holding back the finding of the bag, the subsequent attempted sale and the later realized sale but denies now that he found Mrs. Clinch's name and address in the bag. He has co-operated with the officer in locating the gems.

The State Department official would say what Maj. Gen. Lamater, neutral head of the commission, will propose as an answer to Peru's new demands that the registration of voters, fixed to begin next Monday, be postponed, and that the general himself take a hand in the enforcement of guarantees for the protection of Peruvian voters in the disputed provinces.

Gen. Lamater, however, is believed to be in possession of complete instructions from Washington, covering among other things his course in the event of Peru's withdrawal from the negotiations.

Some surprise and concern was expressed in Latin-American quarters here when it became known today that steamship passage ordered by William H. Vallance, assistant solicitor of the State Department, and a group of eighteen other Americans selected to aid Gen. Lamater in carrying out the plebiscite, suddenly had been canceled. No explanation or comment was made at the State Department.

In other well-informed circles, however, the attempt to cover up the anxiety aroused by the new crisis in Arica was less effective. The possible effect of a withdrawal, by either Chile or Peru, at a time when feeling runs so high between the nationals in Tacna and Arica is being gravely assessed by Latin-American diplomats.

VETERAN ACTOR
TO QUIT STAGECyril Maude to Retire at End of Current SeasonPlans to Live on Pretty Devonshire FarmFavorite Room of House is
"The Barn Top"

CHICAGO, March 12.—Cyril Maude, who long has been a personage in the English and American theater, believes that forty-two years of the hurried and strenuous life of the stage entitle him to enjoy "the last of life, for which the first was martyrdom."

When the curtain falls on his last Philadelphia performance some time in April, Cyril Maude will step from behind the footlights to join Maude Adams, Dame Ellen Terry and many others who live as delightful memories in the minds of playgoers. He is going to retire.

There is a charming old farmhouse in Devonshire in which are the mementoes of a long and successful career. Hither the 44-year-old actor with eyes as blue as a smile as ingenious as it was when he first trod the boards at 12, is going. The home which he bought last year is now Cyril Maude's chief enthusiasm.

LURE OF STAGE
He says he will not act again professionally, but the lure of the stage is strong and in the middle of the kind in which he is good-by to his English public. Nevertheless, it will be but a short season.

Maude has played everything from tragedy to the lightest comedy of the kind in which he is making his farewell appearance. The roles for which he probably will be remembered longest, however, are those in which he has portrayed the ordinary cultured man of the world—played by him in such manner that he has created a "Maude tradition." He was co-manager of the famous Haymarket Theater in London from 1896 to 1905, and afterward built and managed the equally famous Playhouse there.

Mr. Maude does not feel his age or believe that his years alone are sufficient reason for giving up a career. He is retiring now because he wants something new. It is a sign of his vitality and interest in the world that at 44 he is able to plan a new life with ardent enthusiasm.

"England is the place to live in, Devon is the best part of it, and to my mind Redcap, my home, is the loveliest spot in the world," he says. "It is by the sea, close to Dartmouth, where the Pilgrim Fathers landed to scrape the sides of their ship."

The house is of white painted stone, and is covered with honeysuckle and roses and wisteria. There is a wonderful old thatched roof, five feet thick in spots, and quaint chimneys, and a garden of sea and hills and rugged cliffs through the trees beyond.

The hall is paneled in oak, and has an ancient stone fireplace. It and all other passages in the house are lit at night with old ship lanterns. There is an exquisite drawing-room, with dainty miniatures on the walls and Chinese rugs and painted furniture, and there is a tree room at the back we call the gun room. In this are my books and guns and fishing rods, and my desk."

The room he loves best, however, is the bare one at the top of the house, which he has christened "The Barn Top."

The walls of this room are of whitewashed stone, hung with pictures dealing with the theater past of my wife and myself, and auto-graphed boards and all kinds of curiosities. There is a great portrait of my wife there, to remind me of what a lovely woman she was, and a great screen, too. There is a hinged fireplace, and lots of big chairs in which to bury yourself with your favorite book. Or, if you wish, you can play on the little piano in the corner."

"Doesn't that," he asks, "let you know why I want so much to leave the stage and get home?"

THINK NO BLOND
ESKIMOS EXISTMounted Police Find Only Half Breeds Fair HairedAlso Predict Downfall for
"Iron Malamutes"Do Not Believe Arctic Party
Can Live Off Country

VANCOUVER (B. C.) March 12.—Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers stationed here, but who have been years of service in that part of Canada north of Hudson Bay confirm statements made during the past week by Harold Amundsen, that there is no such thing as a blond Eskimo.

It is admitted that one will find some of these natives of that country with blue eyes and finer features than others, but no trader or trapper, but knows it is the intermingling of blue-eyed Scandinavian whalers with the natives of the Canadian North.

One mounted police officer who made a hazardous trip into Melville Peninsula to bring out an Eskimo murderer, stated that he has traveled from the Arctic through Hudson's straits, Fury and Neva straits and as far as Coronation Gulf, knows every tribe of Eskimo for hundreds of miles in every direction from these straits and islands, and he has yet to see one of these natives with fair hair.

Once he saw a native boy with almost red hair but it was because his father was half Eskimo and half Scotch, being the son of a trapper on Hudson's Bay. Thus two generations removed the boy had red hair, but in the native Eskimo, none has ever been found with fair hair.

He says he will not act again professionally, but the lure of the stage is strong and in the middle of the kind in which he is good-by to his English public. Nevertheless, it will be but a short season.

Maude has played everything from tragedy to the lightest comedy of the kind in which he is making his farewell appearance. The roles for which he probably will be remembered longest, however, are those in which he has portrayed the ordinary cultured man of the world—played by him in such manner that he has created a "Maude tradition." He was co-manager of the famous Haymarket Theater in London from 1896 to 1905, and afterward built and managed the equally famous Playhouse there.

Mr. Maude does not feel his age or believe that his years alone are sufficient reason for giving up a career. He is retiring now because he wants something new. It is a sign of his vitality and interest in the world that at 44 he is able to plan a new life with ardent enthusiasm.

"England is the place to live in, Devon is the best part of it, and to my mind Redcap, my home, is the loveliest spot in the world," he says. "It is by the sea, close to Dartmouth, where the Pilgrim Fathers landed to scrape the sides of their ship."

The house is of white painted stone, and is covered with honeysuckle and roses and wisteria. There is a wonderful old thatched roof, five feet thick in spots, and quaint chimneys, and a garden of sea and hills and rugged cliffs through the trees beyond.

The hall is paneled in oak, and has an ancient stone fireplace. It and all other passages in the house are lit at night with old ship lanterns. There is an exquisite drawing-room, with dainty miniatures on the walls and Chinese rugs and painted furniture, and there is a tree room at the back we call the gun room. In this are my books and guns and fishing rods, and my desk."

The room he loves best, however, is the bare one at the top of the house, which he has christened "The Barn Top."

Indian Potentate Introduces Auto Into Sport of Tiger Hunting

A New Use for the Automobile was revealed recently at a London automobile show with the showing of a specially constructed car which will take the place of the elephant howdah on future tiger-hunting expeditions of the Maharajah of Bharatpur. A trapdoor in the roof permits the hunter to stand up for the kill. (P. & A. photo.)

Baby's face and back covered with eczema

Resinol stopped itching quickly and healed blisters

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 5.—"I am writing to tell you of the wonderful relief Resinol has been to my baby who had a bad case of eczema. The itching on her face and back was very bad at first, and in a few days she was out in little blisters. The doctor was awful and made the eczema worse. I tried one preparation that had been highly recommended, but it did her no good. I bought a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap and the itching stopped after the first treatment. In a few days the eczema was gone and she was very happy."

SANTA FE CHIEF
IS OPTIMISTIC
Vice-President Wells Here
Regular Tour
Crop Outlook Good in South
Served by Lines
Says Southland Prospects
Greatest of All

That the natural growth and development of the agricultural resources of California will continue to make the state one of the most prosperous in the country, was the view expressed by A. G. Wells, president of the Santa Fe Railway, in his address to the annual meeting of the Santa Fe Railway Association, held at the Hotel California, San Francisco, last night.

Mr. Wells said he found the general outlook good in the Santa Fe States, where agriculture is the largest factor both in the economy and the public's interest. The grain belts in the Middle Western States have had good rains and crops are being planted in other respects are favorable for a good year.

California, he said, is increasing in the prosperity of the state, as it draws upon the land for a new era of development.

Mr. Wells is particularly interested in the development of the Southern California and the agricultural resources of the state.

GOOPS!

A Daily Lesson in Manners for Children
BY GELETT BURGESS

(Copyright, 1936, by The Chicago Tribune.)

"WHY?"

Instead of just obeying, I always begin by asking "Why?" I'm very lazy at obeying. So WHY? is what I'm always saying.

"Why must I come? Why must I go?"

And Goops like me all answer so!

A Marrying Town

Elktown, Md., has a population of 2500 but it had 4500 weddings last year. All because of some advertising and a lot of money on the part of two clergymen, a taxi cab line, hotel and restaurant. The town is near several large cities and whenever a couple wants to slip away and be married quietly they think of Elkton. The preacher-trickster-hotel combination catches them just as they think of Rochester, Minn., for operations and Reno, Nev., for divorces. [Capper's Weekly.]

Lumber Steamer Floated After Being Grounded at Point Fermin Four Days

The lumber steamer David C. Meyer, which had been aground on the Point Fermin reefs since late Monday night, was floated last night and taken into the harbor.

Crews of the marine salvage firm of Merritt, Chapman & Scott had had a heart-to-heart talk with the ship's crew, and the vessel was floated last night.

The rocks had pierced the ship's engine room and forward, it was said, and she had filled with water. It was necessary to take off her deckload of lumber, about 100,000 feet.

CITIZENS PRAISE AND BLAME GEN. BUTLER

Prominent citizens of Los Angeles disagree in their opinions as to whether Brig-Gen. Smedley Butler, commander of the San Diego marine base, was justified in causing the arrest of Col. Alexander Williams on a charge of intoxication within a short period after a dinner party at which Col. Williams had acted as the general's host. There is one fact which commends Gen. Butler for his courage in complying with naval regulations, while another fact condemns him for what is declared a breach of hospitality. Here are the opinions of some representative citizens and some of the prominent visitors here.

BUTLER GOES TO HOSPITAL

Base Commander Seeks Treatment for Teeth; Band Reporters From Address at San Diego

SAN DIEGO, March 11.—"I came here to command the Marine base at San Diego, and I did it with the aid of my understanding of the situation and with or without the assistance of others," said Brig-Gen. Smedley D. Butler today.

Gen. Butler, storm center of a controversy which has been going on since he arrived here, was taken to the hospital today for treatment of his teeth.

After the luncheon and announcement of policy, Gen. Butler hurried off to the hospital, where he was taken to the dental clinic.

He said his teeth had been hurting him and he intended to have them attended to. He remained in the hospital all afternoon.

Declaring that his blood pressure was very low and that he has several badly infected teeth that would have to be extracted, Gen. Butler said he will be at the naval hospital as a patient for a few days. The general will have to remain at the hospital for a week, according to Capt. Raymond Spear, commandant at the hospital.

Gen. and Mrs. Butler will be cut by Coronado society, so far as it is possible for the commanding officer of the marine base to be cut. It was explained today. This means, it was explained, that he will be invited only to the most formal functions, and left out of informal and semi-formal affairs of all sorts. Society leaders here announced this policy declined to have their names used, but said it was arrived at as a consensus of opinion. They declared Gen. Butler's dental he had based any charges on incidents at Col. Williams' cocktail dinner party, while the difference in the situation was a difference in the situation.

GUESTS MADE KNOWN

A partial list of the guests at this now famous dinner was obtained today from a confidential source, and reads like Who's Who at the Marine Base. Besides Gen. and Mrs. Butler, there were present Maj. and Mrs. Ross Rowell, Maj. and Mrs. Russell H. Davis, Maj. and Mrs. John L. Duxsey, Maj. and Mrs. George F. Stockes, and others.

KEEP THE "L" OUT OF LOS ANGELES!

HENRY Z. OSBORNE AND WALTER E. JESSUP CONSULTING ENGINEERS

SUITE 215 PACIFIC FINANCE BUILDING LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

TUESDAY 1926

March 11, 1926

This is to certify that we have carefully checked the plans of the railroads offered by them as a substitute for a union passenger station. From this check of the railroads' exhibits filed with the California Railroad Commission, we ascertained that the railroads' plan provides for total "L" new construction, including inclines and viaducts, of 28,600 feet or 5.41 miles.

Of this total, Pacific Electric "L" new construction totals 16,500 feet or 3.12 miles. Southern Pacific-Union Pacific "L" new construction totals 12,100 feet or 2.29 miles.

The Mayor's Committee proposes that the Pacific Electric "L" be extended south from 14th Street to Jefferson Street, a distance of 6,500 feet or 1.23 miles. If the Committee's suggestion is adopted by the railroads, then the total length of the Pacific Electric's new "L" construction will be 23,000 feet or 4.35 miles. and the total "L" construction required will be 35,100 feet or 6.64 miles, by the railroads' plan.

Excluding inclines on embankments and the viaducts across the Los Angeles River, the total "L" new construction required under the railroads' plan will be 20,000 feet or 3.78 miles, and if the suggestion of the Mayor's Committee is adopted, the total "L" new construction will be about 26,000 feet or 4.92 miles.

Henry Z. Osborne
Walter E. Jessup

The railroads, through their "Business Men's Association," charge The Times with falsely declaring that the railroads propose to build four miles of elevated roads in the downtown area. The above is a facsimile of a report made from the railroads' own official plans by a recognized and independent firm of engineers of this city.

In paid advertisements appearing in the local newspapers yesterday the railroads, through their "Business Men's Association," charged The Times with falsifying essential facts regarding the present controversy as to whether Los Angeles shall have a union station or shall give the railroads franchises to erect elevated roads into their present depots, these being the alternative plans proposed for the necessary elimination of grade crossings.

The Business Men's Association is composed of a group of prominent bankers, corporation lawyers and business men, good citizens of large interests and, by reason of those interests, more amenable to the immense business influence wielded by the railroads than men of smaller holdings would be. In this instance as at the time of the parallel war of Los Angeles for a free harbor at San Pedro, the railroads have employed their influence to enlist the active support of business men, of interests more or less identical with theirs, for the inferior service which the roads propose to substitute for that ordered by the constituted authorities in the interests of the people. With the right of these gentlemen to their opinions and their right to put them before the public without hindrance, The Times has no quarrel. It insists only that the truth shall be told.

The railroads' advertisement declares by inference that The Times is alone in its advocacy of a union station at the Plaza. The fact is that in supporting such a union depot The Times is doing no more than upholding the orders and findings of the State Railroad Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the present and past Los Angeles City Councils, the City Engineering Department, the City Attorney, the City Planning Commission, at least a score of independent and disinterested engineering experts, the Central Development Association, the Downtown Business Men's Association and improvement associations representing approximately two-thirds of the total area of the city of Los Angeles. All of these have declared emphatically in favor of a union station at the Plaza. The Times does not pose as expert in engineering matters, nor has it anything to gain financially or otherwise by a depot in the Plaza area. Almost any other location would suit better the financial interests of The Times, most of whose holdings are south of Fifth street. But The Times does believe that the unanimous verdict of the State Railroad Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the city's experts and independent engineers of national reputation are worthy of credence and support. They are the experts delegated by the people to pass upon and decide such questions.

The railroads' advertisement declares that the railroads have not violated any existing order directing them to proceed with plans for a union station. Referring to the order of the State Railroad Commission of May 20, 1921, which directed the railroads to proceed forthwith with union station plans, the Interstate Commerce Commission in its decision of July 6, 1925, affirming the Railroad Commission's union depot findings, used the following language:

"The (union station) order required that the defendants (Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Santa Fe) submit plans for approval and, when approved, to build in accordance therewith." THE DEFENDANTS AT NO TIME MADE ANY EFFORT TO COMPLY WITH THE ORDER.

These findings by the Interstate Commerce Commission, approving the Plaza union station order, were issued less than eight months ago.

It was in this decision that this, the country's highest traffic and transportation tribunal, not only declared that present and future public convenience and necessity require the railroads to unite in building a union station in the Plaza area but specifically and categorically denied that application of the railroads for permission to build elevated roads into their present stations—WHICH, AGAINST THAT SPECIFIC PROHIBITION, THEY ARE NOW ATTEMPTING TO DO.

The railroads deny The Times' charge that they oppose a union station in order to keep other roads out of a profitable traffic field and add the amazing declaration that "any road desiring to enter Los Angeles can make use of any existing passenger terminal upon application and upon payment of a reasonable rental."

This generosity is truly staggering—especially in view of the fact that every railroad which has tried to get into Los Angeles in the past fifteen years has met with the most stubborn opposition of which the holders of the present railroad monopoly in Los Angeles were capable. The Union Pacific got in only by selling half its property to a Harriman line. The El Paso and Southwestern got in only at the price of its identity—being swallowed up by the Southern Pacific. The Rock Island and the Western Pacific tried to get in and failed—to the tremendous loss of Los Angeles.

If the railroads now here are welcoming other railroads to come in and share the fat profits of their monopoly, the millennium may be said to have dawned. The Times salutes the clever and capable business men of the railroads' Business Men's Association.

ONE burning question seems to have been cleared up anyhow.

A 1924 bride has carried her troubles to court because she and her husband couldn't agree as to what kind of clothes she should wear.

He thought her skirts should be long enough to cover 'em up. While she was in favor of 'em. Well, anyhow, they got into the courts.

And the judge has fixed her temporary alimony at $12.50 per week. At $12.50 per week, she will wear anything she can get—long or short.

LAW OF HOSPITALITY

The sensational outcome of Gen. Smedley Butler's "welcome home party" has started all the old wheezes again—about "the sacred duty of a guest" etc.

They are all out of date; there aren't any hosts or guests any more. All of this went out when people left off having homes.

Instead of homes, people now have places where they go to change their collars. There can't be any sacred traditions attaching to a relay station.

THE ARAB GUEST

At that, the laws of hospitality have lately played a part in a great international drama.

This Arab rebellion which has stretched the resources and strength of France to the breaking point is said to have started because a French police official rashly arrested a wandering mendicant who had taken refuge in the home of an Arab.

The Arab hadn't the remotest idea who the fellow was; but he promptly started out shooting on the French in defense of his rights as a host.

LITTLE PLUM BLOSSOM

A band of truck-horn young ladies from Japan are touring the country as wrestlers.

One of them hides coyly under the name: Plum Blossom Shima. But one of the other young ladies restores the tragic balance by her name—Dragon River Says.

I don't know anything about their private affairs; but I may be allowed, without impudence, to observe that it must be a trial to have to whisper soft, vapory nothings—baby talk and so on—into the seashell ear of a young lady named Dragon River.

AMERICAN STOCK

Dr. Alex. Hrdlicka of the Smithsonian Institution has announced some results of his long investigations into the people of "old American stock."

... the old Nordic stock.

In the first place, he says it was not really Nordic; rather it was Alpine.

The race types that resulted.

We are the tallest of all white races, the men are neither blond nor brunette.

These are the characteristics in point of character:

Shrewd, but not furtive; persistent but not intense; neither sentimental nor inclined to affectation. The two predominant interests are finance and religion.

As a race it seldom runs either to genius or perversion. It does not shine in the following capacities: farmer, politician, soldier, artist or scientist.

SUITS ACTION POSTPONED

Action on abandoning the condemnation suits against the five party sites in Wilmington was postponed yesterday by the Council due to the objections of a few members. The Council already has expressed itself as being in favor of abandoning the suits.

SANDER STORY CORROBORATED

Two Witnesses Say Killing of Wife Accidental

Struggle for Gun Recounted by Westwood Man

All Had Been Drinking, Two Detectives State

Corroborative statements apparently bearing out the assertion of Herman C. Sander, former police sergeant, that the fatal shooting of his wife Thursday night was the result of an accident were obtained by detectives yesterday from two eyewitnesses of the slaying.

The two witnesses, Edward Schmidt of 14 Nedra Drive, Westwood, and P. C. Cooper of Santa Monica, were taken into custody as material witnesses after an all-night search by Detective Lieutenants Nease and Page. They were released last night.

Both men made detailed statements to the detectives and later repeated them to Dep. Dist. Atty. Scheinman. They declared that they had spent several hours at the home of Sander and his wife, Mrs. Florence Sander, 29 years of age, Thursday afternoon. They were all drinking intermittently, according to the detectives.

As the afternoon waned, they said, Sander grew more and more of a tirade against his wife. He accused her of infidelity, they said. The quarrel grew heated and Sander announced that he would teach her a lesson; thereupon, they said, the former police officer walked into the bedroom and returned with a revolver.

Up to that time, Schmidt told the detectives, he had thought the entire matter a joke, but when Sander came out with the gun, he concluded that the joke had gone far enough and hoped for Sander with the intention of taking the gun from him.

In the ensuing melee, he said, the gun was discharged once or twice—he wasn't sure of the number of times—but he saw Sander crumple to the floor. He thought that she had merely fainted, he said, and he and Cooper left. Sander's wife, he said, she was dead.

An inquest into the death of the woman will be conducted at 9:30 a. m. at the L. F. Uiter mortuary.

PRaise, BLAME FOR BUTLER

are no ethics involved. I believe that it must have been difficult for Gen. Butler to have made the decision, considering that he and Col. Williams had been friendly for such a long period of time.

Dr. Granville MacGowan, former president of the Los Angeles Medical Society: You would be surprised if I had not met Gen. Butler. I think of a man who pulled such a trick as Gen. Butler did.

William May Garland, president of the Grangers Real Estate Company: Gen. Butler deserves the punishment that was meted out to Gen. Mitchell. Gen. Mitchell was sincere, while Gen. Butler was a fanatic, looking for publicity.

Rev. Frank Dyer of the Congressional Church: All this talk about hospitality and ethics is a confusion of the law. The ethics of patriotism and discipline that are involved in the case. The point is that Gen. Butler arrested an subordinate for violation of naval regulations and the laws of the country.

Miss Mary Crawford, dean of women of the University of Southern California: This was a very difficult case but I believe that Gen. Butler was justified in up-bidding the law of the United States. It was a very unhappy situation, but still it remains a fact that the law was not met in the home of Col. Williams and there was no breach of hospitality.

County Counsel Bishop: It seems to me this is a question of which comes first—the law, the social amenities. Gen. Butler is a sworn officer of the law, and if he saw a violation it was his duty to take appropriate action. Now as to the amenities, there is a grave question in my mind whether Col. Williams came in this affair with clean hands. How about this now? Here was Gen. Butler, known the nation over as being recently involved in a big money clean-up in Philadelphia, in the role of chief cleaner-up. And here is Col. Williams, his host, serving liquor, according to the account as I understand it, at a reception at which the General was guest of honor. Talking about social amenities, was that good form on the part of the host, to place his guest in such a situation? If the guest is bound by etiquette to ignore the law, is the host equally bound by the same code to refrain from embarrassing the guest?

tion who yesterday subscribed their names to the announcement of this new Utopia where corporate greed is no more.

Assuming the railroads' willingness to permit a rival the use of their facilities, the impossibility of crowding other transcontinental roads into these already inadequate terminals merely emphasizes the absurdity of this quibble.

The railroads say that other engineering experts have declared in favor of union station sites other than the Plaza area and that railroad engineers are as competent as the independent ones which favor the Plaza terminal plan. While this is unquestionably true, the hearings before the State Railroad Commission have demonstrated that the railroad engineers favor the plan advocated by the corporations which pay their salaries. They would be foolish if they did not.

The railroads say their elevateds will not darken the streets they cross. Let anybody who believes this visit the rear of the Pacific Electric station where the present P. E. elevated crosses Los Angeles street.

The railroads say their elevateds are not dangerous—at least not as dangerous as the present grade crossings of the Pacific Electric.

Nothing of its kind can be as dangerous as a grade crossing. A union station at the Plaza will eliminate grade crossings WITHOUT ELEVATEDS. Notwithstanding the railroads' claim to the contrary, elevateds have no part in the Plaza plan.

The railroads say that elevateds do not lower property values along private rights of way. The Times deems comment superfluous.

The remainder of the railroads' advertisement is devoted to challenging statements of various engineering experts and others who favor the Plaza plan—among them the declaration of Samuel Storrow, consulting engineer, that the railroad plan will add to the present number of grade crossings instead of decreasing them. Exception is likewise taken to the subway plan of W. K. Barnard, of the engineering firm of Leeds & Barnard. Railroad speakers refer to subways as "gopher holes." Railroads prefer elevateds because they cost the railroads less to build. What the public prefers makes no difference.

In concluding the advertisement says in effect that the Business Men's Association has delayed publishing it in the hope that The Times would see the error of its ways and come around to the support of the railroads and their plan to substitute elevated railways for a union station.

It is natural that the railroads should seek to protect by every means at their disposal the profitable monopoly they have so long enjoyed in Los Angeles. It is perhaps also natural that citizens having large dealings with the railroads, business men with extensive freight interests, bankers with heavy corporation deposits, realty men with property to sell to railroads and to railroad-influenced interests—should be found on the side of the railroads.

The Times criticizes no one for looking after his private interests but takes this occasion to serve notice that it will continue to oppose to the extent of its ability this effort of the railroads to prostitute the public interest to their private and personal profit.

Judge Gates: It is the duty of every man to uphold the law, and of every soldier to enforce the regulations of the service he is in. Gen. Butler, because of his high position, is held to a higher standard than the ordinary citizen. He is held to a standard of conduct which is not less than that of a gentleman.

Municipal Judge Bullock: The canons of hospitality are sacred and to many a unwritten law. Not knowing all the facts involved in the situation, I can only say that unless Gen. Butler's oath of office and duty to his organization compelled him to take the action, public sentiment will not be with him.

S. J. Montgomery of the Anti-Saloon League: Gen. Butler would not have been true to his oath of office had he not taken the action he did. The General did not make the laws, he simply obeyed them. He is a sworn officer of the law and, besides, a man who is to be complimented because he has the courage of his convictions.

Municipal Judge Baird: While a man's duty to his organization and to the laws of his country must come first, it hardly seems a man should openly flout one of the oldest unwritten laws, that of respecting the man whose seal he has eaten and whose bread he has broken. Would not a personal reproach have served the end of duty?

Reinhold B. Smith, register of the United States Land Office: If it is the purpose of the Eighteenth Amendment to induce one neighbor to report another for violation of its provisions then Gen. Butler's action was justified.

Judge Burnell: Of course, I do not know the facts regarding the unfortunate affair at San Diego, but, if the facts are true as reported, that Gen. Butler acted as he did, he acted as a gentleman. Col. Williams, he certainly appeared there as the superior officer to Col. Williams. On the other hand, he was not there as a police officer and he should have remembered, at least, that Col. Williams was a friend and a guest.

Councilman Randall: I think Gen. Butler did exactly the right thing. Col. Williams erred in inviting a known lawbreaker to his home. He was not there as a police officer and he should have remembered, at least, that Col. Williams was a friend and a guest.

Councilman Jacobson: Col. Williams was violating the law, and Gen. Butler made the only possible move. I'd like to have Gen. Butler up here to work with me. Miss Bauer, the secretary, is on the Council. I believe Gen. Butler was wrong. It was very ill-advised for him to take action against his host.

Deputy City Clerk Joe Hopper: That affair doesn't look as if it was for the good of the service. However, I don't know any flesh worrying about the troubles of the Marines.

Councilman Cresswell: I suppose if I were automobile riding with a friend and he exceeded the speed limit I ought to stop at the next traffic cop and turn him in.

Judge Crawford: I believe that under his oath, Gen. Butler could not have done otherwise. I commend him for his courage.

Judge Craig: Having seen conflicting statements of where and how the incident arose, I am in an uncertain position for any comment. If the incident is based only on the cocktails asserted to have been served by Col. Williams as host to Gen. Butler, I think that the ethics of the situation might have required Gen. Butler to have retired at once from the banquet. If the incident arose out of asserted condition of Col. Williams in a certain hotel after the banquet then the situation of host and guest had ceased and Gen. Butler's report, in such form as it may have been made, was a matter of his own sense of duty.

And wouldn't St. Patrick's Day be a good time to try out Henry's idea for reviving the old-time square dance with "Turkey in the Straw"? An Irish Costume Dance!

You save time and confusion for everyone, yourself included, by keeping to the right and watching the traffic signals.

When you realize that you can earn enough dividends to pay a good portion of your grocery bills, you will see why Daley's, Inc., has found it profitable to go into "partnership

A well-cooked meal has prevented many a divorce.

With two tablespoons of milk half a teaspoonful of salt, a few drops of lemon juice, and four drops of olive oil, mix in a bowl. Dip the eggs in this mixture and fry in deep hot fat one minute or until a nice golden brown. Drain on a piece of brown paper in an open oven.

PHILADELPHIA RELISH

Mix two cups of finely chopped crisp dry cabbage with four tablespoons of finely chopped green bell pepper and set on the ice for six hours. Mix two-thirds of a teaspoonful of mustard seed with two-thirds of a teaspoonful of celery seed, three tablespoons of brown sugar, and three tablespoons of vinegar. When ready, mix with the cabbage and pepper. Boil for one hour in a covered kettle. Drain in a cold bowl and mix well.

ENGLISH CIDER CUP

Place in a cold two-quart pitcher
one quart of cider, the thin peel of one lemon, and three strips of cucumber rind, set on the ice for half an hour; remove the lemon and cucumber peel, add half a cupful of strained orange juice and two bottles of cold ginger ale and serve.

CHATEAU POTATOES

Peel and cut raw potatoes in slices the size and shape of olive over with cold water, add a little salt and boil slowly for six minutes and drain. Melt two tablespoons of butter in a frying pan, add one tablespoonful of olive oil and when hot add the drained potatoes and shake over the fire until a light amber color; add slightly and place in the oven until soft and a light brown.

APPLE KNOX

Peel, core and slice three large apples, place in a saucepan with two teaspoonsful of lemon juice and four tablespoons of immature butter. Cook until soft, drain and rub through a sieve. Let stand until thoroughly chilled, add the stiffly-beaten whites of three eggs and half a cupful of sifted powdered sugar. Mound on a glass dish and sprinkle with finely chopped almonds and red cherries.

FRIED OYSTERS

Select six even-sized large oysters for each service; drain and press between towels and carefully remove the tough membrane and small bits of shell. Beat an egg with two tablespoons of milk, two cupfuls of sifted flour, with a half teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoon-fuls of sugar, and five level teaspoons of baking powder; add olive well-beaten eggs, beat well and bake on a well-greased griddle.

years of age.

VOLSTEAD VIOLATOR LOST

Clifford Sayre, convicted at Fresno recently on charge of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, was denied a motion for a new trial by United States Judge Henning yesterday, and will be sentenced Monday.

DEMAND FOR SEX APPEAL

BOOKS EBBS

Ohio Librarian on Trip of Inspection Visits School in Los Angeles

The demand for books on sex appeal is on the wane, according to Henry S. Hirschberg, member of the Board of Education for the Ohio State Library. Mr. Hirsch-berg, who is here on a tour of inspection, said that the demand for books on sex appeal has been declining steadily since the publication of his book, "The Sex Appeal of the Human Body," which was published last year.

Mr. Hirschberg is unfamiliar with the demand for sex-appeal literature as regards public libraries, although he states it has always been correct.

"However, our work has nothing to do with reader taste. We have been visiting library schools throughout the country and report on their condition. These reports will be presented at the meeting of the board at Signal Mountain, Tenn., in April and the schools will then be graded in accordance with the standards we believe are correct."

Only three such schools exist in California, according to Mr. Hirsch-berg. One is under the direction of the University of California at Berkeley, one at Riverside, and the library school conducted in connection with public libraries here. Mr. Hirschberg and Miss Howe are leaving for Riverside
this morning.

Want City to

Vote on More

River Viaducts

The Council was petitioned yesterday to order on the ballot for the April 30, next, election a bond issue sufficient to insure the construction of two more viaducts across the Los Angeles River, one with Whittier Boulevard, and other to extend East Washington street.

The petition came from the East Side Organization, and was signed by George W. C. Baker, executive secretary.

The communication was the result of a resolution adopted by the board of directors of the organization.

BY MYRA NYE

A strong resolution condemning the methods of many educators who, obviously in behalf of peace, are teaching anarchy and even treason to the flag of the United States, was passed at the Republican Women's Convention, held at the Biltmore Hotel in San Francisco
last night.

Bina M. West, member of the also honorary president and organizer of the Women's Benevolent Association, with members in virtually every city, town and hamlet

"There can be no doubt that a powerful as the women of the Republic. We must be content with the most of us to remain in the ranks and do local work. It is the most."

"I am distinctly and emphatically who state they are non-partisan.

They are nothing if they are non-partisan. I would rather see a friend of mine in the opposi-

DOCTOR SEIZED IN GIRL'S DEATH

Murder Charge Also Faced by Four Other Persons

McCarroll Illegal Operation Case Arrests Made

Funeral Takes Place While Law Seeks Guilty Ones

Dr. James G. Ham, 48 years of age, son of wealthy San Bernardino parents, and a practicing physician in Los Angeles, was arrested in San Bernardino yesterday afternoon on a warrant charging murder issued by Dep. Dist. Atty. Scheinman in connection with the death of Bonnie Agnes McCarroll, 22-year-old telephone operator with the Hillman Apartments, who died last Sunday as a result, police say, of an illegal operation.

Dr. Ham was returned to Los Angeles last night and was released on $10,000 bail.

At the same time San Bernardino county authorities were searching for Dr. Ham. Detective Lieutenant Stevens, acting under orders from Asst. Capt. Bean, placed under arrest four other persons, two of them women, all of them asserted to be implicated in the case and all of them charged with murder in the complaint issued by the District Attorney's office.

OTHERS SEIZED

The others arrested are Herbert E. Del Valle, asserted assistant to Dr. Ham; Mrs. C. W. Collins, 111 West Fifty-ninth place, a nurse; Leonore Hamand, 21 years of age, 1643 Orchard street, Dr. Ham's office attendant; and Edward Siefert, 248 Orchard street, Bell declared to have been responsible for Miss McCarroll's condition.

From Miss Hamand, who was charged with the murder, the police, they obtained a signed statement that she saw Dr. Ham a week ago last Tuesday perform an operation on Miss McCarroll, the first admission from any of those involved in the case that they knew of an operation. It is understood that the girl named Del Valle, Mrs. Collins and herself as being present when the operation was performed.

After a thorough questioning, the detective stated, it was the opinion that Miss Hamand was more or less innocently involved in the case and probably will be liberated on her own recognizance pending trial of the case. In her statement the girl declared that she had been employed for a few days by Dr. Ham as an office attendant when he asked her to assist him with the operation on

Three Face McCarroll Tragedy Case

Named in Murder Complaint

WIFE SAYS GIN CAUSED HER TO WED

In the first place, she did not want to marry Jack Sax, and in the second place, he said he had a wife and two children, and that he was married to her. Florence Sax, theater usher, wanted her marriage annulled, she told Judge Gates yesterday.

"Well, how did you happen to marry him if you didn't want to?" Judge Gates wanted to know.

"Judge, it was that crazy-looking coffee and the gin," the plaintiff explained. "He had talked me into going to a party in Burbank and he says 'What's the coffee tasted queer, and I said so, and he said, 'Well, it ought to; it cost me a half a pint of gin to get that taste.' Then I let him talk me into drinking some gin, and the next morning I was walking down Broadway and I met my sister, and she says 'What's the matter with you, anyway?' Then Mr. Sax said we had been married, but that he had a wife and two children already. And that's how it happened."

"It must have been a pretty party," Judge Gates commented. "You'd better straighten out the coffee if that's what happens when you drink strange stuff. Annulment granted."

Husband Also Had Another Helpmate and Children, She Asserts in Court

Charles L. Sykes, field service manager of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of New York, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to arrange for the expanding business of the company's agency here.

Mr. Sykes, who visited the Middle West Northwest and Florida before his arrival here, stated that he found conditions through the country highly satisfactory but that the situation in Florida was considerably less favorable than it was some months ago.

As an index of the prosperity being enjoyed by both the Middle West and the Northwest, he said, the company's business in both sections has increased amazingly. In Southern California, he stated, a 200 per cent rise has been recorded in the company's business.

Mr. Sykes was in Los Angeles two years ago but during this relatively short period, he said, the tremendous strides made here had amazed him.

Life Insurance Man Surprised by City Growth

The appropriation of $35,000 to be paid to the Pacific Electric for an option on land to be condemned near Riverside Drive for the extension of Fletcher Drive at the approach of the proposed Fletcher Drive bridge across the Los Angeles River was authorized yesterday by the Council.

The action was taken on a resolution introduced by Councilman Ash and recommended by the Finance Committee. The money will be repaid by the assessment district. The money, it was stated, will be used by the Pacific Electric to relocate its bridge across the Fletcher Drive gap, so that work on the river bridge and highway can be begun immediately.

NEBRASKAN TO SPEAK BEFORE LOCAL CLUB

Samuel R. McKelvie, editor and publisher of the Nebraska Farmer and for two successive terms Governor of Nebraska, will appear as the chief speaker before the Advertising Club at its weekly luncheon meeting, Tuesday noon.

His subject will be "When Corn Belt and Fruit Belt Meet on an Advertising Plane." W. B. Gelsinger, advertising manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, will be chairman. A small box of oranges will be given to each guest at the meeting.

BOULDER CANYON TRIP SET FOR NEXT WEEK

The annual trip to the proposed dam site at Boulder Canyon, sponsored by the Imperial Irrigation District, will take place next week.

The money, it was stated, to go are invited to meet at San Bernardino at 6:30 a.m. next Wednesday. The caravan will start at 7 a.m. for Las Vegas, Nev., by way of Cajon Pass, Barstow and Daguerre.

Billy House to be Headliner at the Hillstreet

Billy House, that joyous oversized comedian who created a riot in New York recently with his funny antics, will be a feature of the bill at the Hillstreet Monday where he will be seen in a comedy playlet called "Oh! Teddy," a story of love and lingerie.

Other features on the bill are Dan Steiner and Al Birnes in a comedy patter act, "Amateur Night in London" is a burlesque on would-be actors. Billy Harrison and Sylvia Dahn with Benny Oakland offer steps and tunes. Louis London and Martinette and his famous crew complete the bill.

The screen will feature Elaine Hammerstein in "The Unwritten Law," Alberta Vaughn will be seen in her final chapter of "The Adventure of Mabel."

May Hill Makes Debut Today in Will King Show

May Hill, talented sister of Bonnie Hill, will make her debut before Los Angeles audiences at the Broadway Palace today when Will King presents his new musical comedy "The Girl in the Limousine."

May Hill has attained quite a foothold on the theatrical ladder of fame and in the East where she has been appearing her popularity has been phenomenal. She is cast in the role of "Lucia" in "The Girl in the Limousine."

In addition to the Will King musical comedy Herbie King and his Super-Soloists will also offer a new novelty, "A Jam Wedding." The feature playlet is Blanche Sweet in "The Lady From Hell."

CADMAN ARRANGES SCORE FOR PICTURE

For the presentation of "The Vanishing American" at Loew's State Theater, which began yesterday, Charles Winkfield Cadman has arranged a remarkable score of Indian music.

Among the numbers which he is employing for this picture, Mr. Cadman employs "Leisurely" by the Waters of Minnesota, "Dance of the Indian," "Largo," "Herbert's Indian Invocation," "Belated's Indian War Dance," "Herman's 'Tomahawk Dance,'" "Noble's 'From an Indian Pueblo,'" "Langley's 'Indian Music,'" "Levy's 'Indian Mysterioso,'" "Gurn's 'Rain Dance,'" "Lester's 'Gathering of the Braves,'" "Lester's 'Scalp Dance,'" "Herbert's 'Indian Summer,'" as well as Cadman's own compositions, "Arizona," "To a Vanishing Race," "Land of the Sky-Blue Water," and "Little White Rose."

"PATSY" PREPARES FOR SECOND WEEK

"Patsy," the Los Angeles sponsored musical comedy presenting Lou Holtz, Gloria Foy and other New York favorites in settings introducing galaxies of pretty girls, elaborate costumes and lighting effects, will enter its second week at the Mason Monday night.

Alluring new melodies are arranged with novel dances by a Southern California chorus of forty trained by David Bennett, stellar New York director. Bertram Harrison, directing the book, and Victor Barnaville, conducting the music, are noted New York directors, completing the trio of production artists.

Elinor Glyn Opens at the Boulevard

There is a well-balanced cast in Elinor Glyn's, "The Only Thing," which opens tomorrow at the West Coast Boulevard Theater.

The story is one of Elinor Glyn's best and was written by her directly for the screen. The cast is headed by Elinor Glyn herself and Conrad Nagel.

Many entertaining musical numbers are being planned for by Gene Morgan and his Boulevard Orchestra to offer to Boulevard patrons together with the showing of the feature. Herbert Kern also promises a novel musical number on the organ.

APPEARS IN FILM WITH BARRYMORE

George O'Hara

"Loading the Whaler" a colorful, entertaining feature staged under the direction of Emile De Reat with a cast of singers and dancers is the title of the atmospheric program to John Barrymore's "The Sea Beast" now playing its third week at the Figueroa Theater, with George O'Hara and Dolores Costello featured in the cast.

An augmented orchestra under the direction of Frank Marrales provides the accompaniment for the program and also plays the specially written score for the cinema.
